With Henry Irving and Thomas Jefferson gone the stage has lost two of its real stars.

Not only will young James Hazen Hyde face the music but he will probably be asked to dance, also.

A man wife named Brink were divorced in Washington county court Saturday. Why did they ever topple over it in the first place?

If young Pultizer and his bride ever come to lack ready cash they can convert some of their wedding gifts and still have a fortune.

Ironical as it seems the czar has asked for a new meeting of The Hague peace tribunal. Still, the other nations ought to be willing to meet him half way in this matter.

It is said that the tremendous sale of certain essences and extracts in prohibition communities has caused Internal Revenue Commissioner Yerkes to follow up a recent order for druggists to take out a federal license by ordering all dealers in the "extracts" and "essences" to take out special licenses. Failure to take out the license, so Mr. Yerkes says, will lay them liable to prosecution. In the old days of prohibition in Vermont these two formed a toddy for inebriates when they couldn't get anything else, and the same may be true in those communities which have decreed no-licensing. The Internal Revenue Bureau is informed that in some communities the sale of the stuff in one day was enough to flavor all the pies and cakes which would be made in five years.

In view of the fact that the purpose of the federation was for unity of action and effort, the exclusion of three Unitarians, and consequently, Unitarianism, from the inter-church conference is peculiar. At the outset the purpose of the federation is apparently denied. The ground for the exclusion of the delegates, Edward Everett Hale, John D. Long, former secretary of the navy, and Rev. Samuel Eliot, son of the president of Harvard university, is that the Unitarian denomination is not of the same Christian essence with the others, in short, that their spiritual side is not sufficiently developed to compare with their brethren of the other religions. It is undoubtedly true that Unitarianism does not embrace all that some other denominations have in their creeds, but that fact does not preclude the possibility for workers in the former church from doing much good in the world. To quote the words of Dr. Eliot: "The Unitarians are ready to co-operate in all good causes and are only sorry that the men of the other Christian communities deny to them the chance of helpfulness." Will the others actually shut the door in their faces when they apply for a chance to further the work?

IMPRISONED IN MINE.

Six Coal Miners Shut Off from Escape by Fire.

Fredericktown, Pa., Oct. 16.—Half a mile from the entry six miners are imprisoned—perhaps dead—in the mine of the Clyde Coal company. The mine is on fire, and the belief is general that the entrapped men cannot be reached in time to save their lives, even if they are not already dead. Two others were seriously burned in an explosion in the fan house following the breaking out of the fire in the mine, one of them so fearfully that he will not live.

The imprisoned men are: George Kelley, Homer Harvey, Richard Marsh, Richard Moffy, Boni Lorenzo, Cesto Benardini.

Nearly 200 men were in the mine when the fire started. Its exact origin is not known, but it is supposed it was caused by a wire becoming short circuited and igniting the brattice cloths which serve to create drafts by means of which the mine is kept free from foul air.

All but the six men named escaped.

NORTHFIELD.

The first regular meeting of the Hose company was held on Saturday night at engine house No. 1. The officers were elected as follows: Captain, Thomas McKutehinson; assistant, Arthur McCarty; secretary and treasurer, H. W. Orser. It was voted to call the company the Tigers, meetings to be held on the first Wednesday of every month. At present there are only nine men in the company, but as soon as the water system is installed throughout the village, the number will be increased to 15.

L. H. Janvin, proprietor of the Star farm and a member of the class of '03, Norwich university, entertained the members of the senior class on Saturday at the farm house. The first part of the evening was devoted to an old-fashioned corn husking dance in the barn, after which supper was served, being cooked over a fire in the yard. After lunch the party of about 30 adjourned to the parlors of the house and indulged in a social dance until a late hour, music being furnished by Chase's orchestra. The party was given in honor of Miss Jessie McNair of New York, who is spending a few weeks at the farm.

MAY BE IN RUTLAND.

Florence Granfield Hunt in Burlington Until Recently.

Burlington, Oct. 16.—Mrs. Florence Granfield Hunt, 21 years of age, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Granfield of Berlin, who is reported as being missing from her home since last April and for whom her parents entertained fears, has been employed as a dining room girl in the Van Ness House in this city. It is thought that she is now at work at the Bardwell House in Rutland. At least she was in the employ of that hotel when the last base ball game was played in the Marble City.

Mrs. Hunt came to this city in June. She stated at the time that she had left home a short time previous and had just come from the Pavilion Hotel in Montpelier. Her actions were peculiar. She remained at the Van Ness House about six weeks, when she left, taking, it is claimed, several articles which were the property of the other girls in the hotel. These articles, with the exception of a sum of money, were later recovered. From this city she went to Plattsburg, where she was employed in the Cumberland House; from there she went to Gloversville, N. Y., and was employed in a hotel; from that place she went to Rutland, where it is believed that she is now employed. It is an easy matter to trace the girl as she does not try to conceal her identity, and always leaves her forwarding address. While in this city she was in regular correspondence with a sister. Her husband, whom it is believed is now in Oklahoma, was in this city, while Mrs. Hunt was here.

CAUGHT WITH PLUNDER.

Nashua, N. H., Thief Arrested in Boston Yesterday.

Nashua, N. H., Oct. 16.—Police Inspector Edward Field yesterday brought from Boston a man who gives the name of George W. Davis, arrested for the burglaries of the Boston and Maine railroad stations at Merrimack and Thornton's Ferry.

He was caught in the act of selling stolen tickets at a pawn shop on Court street, Boston. He had previously disposed of some of the plunder. He removed the dating stamp from the office of the Merrimack station, so that he could stamp the tickets and make them look all right. Had he not been nabbed, the railroad might have been out over $1,000, as Davis took at least 3,000 tickets. Many of them were local, along the line of the southern division, consisting of such tickets as the offices usually have in steady demand. Among the missing goods, were many books of tickets prepared for filling out from either Thornton's Ferry or Merrimack, to any station on the whole system wherever a passenger might wish to travel. Most of this plunder was found yesterday afternoon on the Wilson farm, so called, on the Concord road in Merrimack, now owned by a Nashua fruit dealer. There was a knapsack and a satchel filled with tickets, some loose, just as they had been swept from the classified cabinet in which they are arranged for the convenience of the seller, and others in packs of 100 or 200, just as they came from the printers.

DIED FROM INJURIES.

Senator George T. Fulford Hurt in Auto Accident.

Newton, Mass., Oct. 16.—Senator George T. Fulford of Brockville, Canada, died at the Newton hospital yesterday afternoon as the result of injuries received in an automobile accident one week ago yesterday.

Sensor Fulford's injuries, which were at first regarded as slight, developed into the paralysis of the vital organs, and for the past two days there was no hope of his recovery.

The accident occurred in this city on Walnut street on Sunday afternoon, the automobile in which Senator Fulford was riding with Wm. T. Hanson of Schenectady, N. Y., coming in collision with an electric car. The entire party, including the chauffeur, Louis Zerlak of Albany, N. Y., were thrown out. Zerlak died three days later, but Mr. Hanson escaped without serious injury.

WASHINGTON.

Denison Flint is very ill, and small hopes of his recovery are entertained. A large attendance at the collision party held at the Hotel hall Saturday evening.

Mrs. Frank McConnell, who has been very dangerously sick, is on the road to recovery.

G. H. Flint is making extensive improvements on his residence. John Lyman is doing the work.

G. E. Huntington, with a party, leaves today for camp near the base of Orange mountain for a few weeks' stay.

Mrs. C. W. Huntington is very ill and considered quite dangerous by her physician, Dr. W. O. Hutchinson.

The new clergyman of the Universalist church with his family arrived last week and are now settled in their new home.

D. B. Houghton is to dispose of his household furniture, also horse, wagons and harnesses tomorrow after the auction of G. A. Bohannon at the same place.

Ladies' night was observed at the Grange Friday night and a first-class programme was carried out. The gentlemen will have to look out for their night, which comes the next meeting, and try and not be outdone by the sisters.

Two Women.

A woman who was not lean, but spirituelle, as she herself admitted, once met a woman who was not fat, but was somewhat given to embonpoint, as she naively confessed.

"Ah, me!" sighed the lean, spirituelle woman, "if only I could be plump like her!"

And she wept bitterly just before she began to diet.

At the same time the woman who was fat—given to embonpoint, looked upon the other woman, and—

"Alas," she said, "if only I could have a graceful, sylphlike form like hers!"

And she also wept bitterly just before she began to diet.

Moral: It is difficult to suit everybody.

Moral No. 2: Why in thunder doesn't Nature mix us a little more evenly, anyway?

N. E.—Both of them are still dieting, and their scalding tears are mixed with the prescribed food.—San Francisco Call.

The Vaughan Store

Great Calamity!

A great calamity would not excite the interest of women more than the stock of Coats and Furs we are showing at this little old shop of ours. It brings forth words of praise from the most fastidious from the fact it meets the demands of the well-dressed woman.

While the exterior of this old store does not present a very pleasing spectacle, we would remind you that some of the best souls dwell under a rough exterior and the choicest things are often found in the less pretentious places. Investigate.
